

Speakers

Manuel Müller  @foederalist

Research Advisor at the Institut für Europäische Politik (IEP) in Berlin and Author of the blog "Der (europäische) Föderalist"

The Blog "Der (europäische) Föderalist" was launched in October 2011. In April 2014 the Süddeutsche Zeitung described it as "one of the smartest and most informative political blogs in Germany". As the first European medium, the blog has been publishing regular seat projections for the European Parliament since 2014. Müller is also co-editor of the anthologies "Konstitutionalisierung jenseits des Staates" (2012) and "Communicating European Integration" (2014). His articles have been published in the Süddeutsche Zeitung, on ZEIT online and at the Federal Agency for Civic Education. For EurActiv.de he conducted short interviews with members of the European Parliament. In addition, he's a regular studio guest and interviewee on television and radio.

Julie Hamann  @jul_hamann and @dgapev

Research Fellow at the German Council on Foreign Relations

Julie Hamann is a research fellow at the German Council on Foreign Relations (DGAP) in Berlin since February 2015. She works in DGAP's Franco-German relations program. Her areas of focus are Franco-German relations, France in the EU, and labor unions and social movements in France. She also manages the Franco-German Future Dialogue.

Piotr Maciej Kaczyński  @pm_kaczynski

Blogger on EU Affairs

Piotr Maciej Kaczyński is a regular writer and speaker on the EU and international matters. Previously a researcher with leading think tanks in Poland and Brussels. Since 2014 he has been training EU and member states civil servants as well as politicians and business representatives. Member of the European Commission Representation in Warsaw Team Europe. A regular contributor for Euractiv (Brussels) and Onet (Warsaw). Currently he writes a blog on EU elections in Poland, which is part of a larger project, #Gimme5EU, including sister blogs on the electoral process in France, Bulgaria, Italy and Romania.

Petros Fassoulas  @PetrosFassoulas

Secretary General of the European Movement International

Petros Fassoulas has been the Secretary General of the European Movement International since July 2015. Previously he worked as ACCA's Head of Public Affairs Europe. He was also EU Affairs Adviser at the UK's Financial Services Authority and before that he was EU Affairs Adviser at the UK Parliament. Fassoulas also spent 5 years in Brussels, working for the European Commission, the Committee of the Regions as well as in advocacy and lobbying. He comments frequently on EU issues and has featured on BBC News, CNN, Bloomberg, Al Jazeera as well as the Guardian, Le Soir, El Pais, Ta Nea, Der Spiegel, Euractiv, Politico Europe among others.

Maïa de La Baume  @mdelaBaume

Reporter at POLITICO

Maïa de La Baume is a reporter covering the European Parliament in Brussels. Prior to joining POLITICO, she spent 9 years at the New York Times in Paris, where she mainly wrote news stories and features about French politics and society. Before joining the Times, she worked at Le Monde.fr, and wrote a travel guide on Italy. Her work also appeared in the International Herald Tribune, Courier International and Le Monde.fr. Her fields of interest include social trends, human rights-related issues as well as international politics.

Tuomas Iso-Markku  @FIIA_fi

Research Fellow at the Finnish Institute of International Affairs

Tuomas Iso-Markku works as a research fellow in the European Union research programme at the Finnish Institute of International Affairs (FIIA). His research focuses on the EU's foreign, security and defence policies, the European Parliament, German politics, Finnish EU policy and Nordic foreign and security policy cooperation.